

NEW YORK POST

America's oldest continuously published daily newspaper

May 9, 2018

Book nook

LAURIE Burrows Grad, Abe Burrows' daughter, wrote a new book. Its title: "The Joke's Over, You Can Come Back Now: How This Widow Plowed Through Grief and Survived" is almost longer than the paperback, which claims 75 percent of us are widowed by age 56.

Besides Earth, females are also overtaking the sky. "Flying Jenny" is another read by Theasa Tuohy. Her mom, friend of Wiley Post, first to fly solo around the world, was a pilot in the '30s. And Elinor Smith in 1928 flew a Waco 10 plane under all NYC bridges. Mayor Jimmy Walker then suspended her for 10 days.